Told by Herman Gertz in the Case Against Abraham Fox et. al. for Receiving Stolen Goods-Tomlinson Case May be Heard.

At the opening of the criminal superior court in this city Tuesday morning a jury was selected for the trial of the state vs. Abraham Fox. David Gordon and Moses Goldfaden, members of the Norwich Bottle and funk corporation. They pleaded not suilty to buying copper wire which and been stolen from the New Haven leid on March 20, 1907. To complete the jury George O. Stead and red Tyler were secured by the deputy sheriff as talesmen. The copper morning a jury was selected for the trial of the state vs. Abraham Fox. David Gordon and Moses Goldfaden, members of the Norwich Bottle and Junk corporation. They pleaded not guilty to buying copper wire which had been stolen from the New Haven road between Jewett City and Plainfield on March 20, 1907. To complete the jury George O. Stead and Fred Tyler were secured by the deputy sheriff as talesmen. The copper wire is valued at $258.

For the theft of the wire, Herman C. Gertz and Jacob Lewis pleaded guilty at a previous term and paid their fines. They turned state's evidence and testified in the case when it was before the city court.

The first witness called was Civil Engineer Pitcher, who presented and explained two plans showing West Main street and Elizabeth street, the shop of the corporation being in West Main street.

Herman C. Gertz of Providence was next called. He is now in the fruit business in Providence. He claimed that in connection with Lewis he stole the copper bond wire in question and brought it to this city in a team belonging to him and sold it to the corporation. The witness testified to knowing Mr. Gordon well, as he saw the accused at the home of the secused by brother at Danielson, where he often visited. From Putnam the witness telephoned to Gordon about the money for the wire, but was asked to wait until the matter was settled, as the police were on the case. Later he came here and talked with Gordon. as the police were on the case. Later he came here and talked with Gordon at his house about it. Gordon said that they had to "drown" the wire and could get nothing for it, as the police had kept after them. He gave Gertz $10 for his expenses. He valued the wire at $100, and was to get 14 cents a pound. He testified that he met Gordon at Putnam, where he bargained with him for the purchase of gained with him for the purchase of the copper which he was to steal that night. There was a man with Gordon then whom he identified as Davidson. The bond wire was cut with large tin-

The views are well chosen and give one a fine idea well chosen and give one a fine idea of the country through which Mr. Dion passed. After leaving Boston he went to Lisbon, N. H., and from there to Montreal. After two days there, he to Lisbon, N. H., and from there to Montreal. After two days there, he went by water up the St. Lawrence river to Quebec, although there are railroads on both sides of the river. In both places he visited the public buildings and other places of interest. Later he went to Tadousac, up the Saguenay river by boat to Chicoutimi, and thence hy rail to Roberval, on Lake St. John. Roberval is the last point on the railroad and beyond it the indians roam. There is an Indian campjust beyond Roberval, but when Mr. Dion was there it was almost deserted, as the red men had all gone out for the winter's hunt. The traveling distance from Norwich to Roberval is 940 miles. Mr. Dion had a chance to shoot some rapids, but declined.

Mr. Dion also made a trip from Levis, opposite Quebec, up the other side of the river, to some extensive woodland which he owns. The whole journey was an enjoyable one for Mr. Dion, and for Rev. Philip Massicotte, curate of the Sacred Heart church, who accompanied him throughout.

Cell Management.

When we being a new kind of work our cells are like untrained children. They don't know which way to turn and need to be directed at every point. After awhile they will know the way themselves. Then we can leave them and go do something else. But in the beginning they need to be watched. That is the reason all new work is hard, and all work which we have learned to do easy and pleasant. That is the reason that the newer and harder the work the more we need to pay attention. And that is the reason that when we don't pay attention that when we don't pay attention things get twisted and tangled and we feel fired and disspirited as a result. No matter how wayward or unruly the cells they can be trained to move in any direction we wish. They can be taught to enter dearling stacking.
